

Trade Show Update

Yarnex 2009 - the first ever exclusive sourcing event to be held in South India for fiber & yarn

September 4, 5, 6, 2009
India Knit Fair Complex Tirupur, India

Complex, a centrally air-conditioned venue that plays host to several Indian and global trade events. More importantly, the IKF Complex is located in proximity to the main city and the apparel and textile parks. Tirupur is known the world over as India's knitwear capital and is easily accessible to major textile weaving centers like Coimbatore, Dindigul, Erode, Karur, Madurai, Salem, Virudhunagar as well as the major garmenting cities of Chennai and Bengaluru amongst others.

Yarnex 2009, will provide an effective sourcing platform for manufacturers and suppliers of yarns to meet with end-users like composite mills, weavers and knitters as well as bulk buyers of yarn for domestic consumption and exports.

Yarnex will not only provide direct access to weavers and knitters, but also to merchandisers from prominent companies representing buying houses and buying agents, apparel brands, wholesalers and retailers, fashion designers and fashion labels from India as well as overseas.

The IKF Complex at Tirupur

The success of the first Business Networking Forum, held as part of the 2008 edition of F&A Trade Show, brought together various segments of the textile value chain from India, Sri Lanka and Bangladesh.

This year too, BNF will provide industry leaders to understand and update themselves on happenings in the global textile and apparel market, as well as to assess the challenges and explore opportunities and synergies that could benefit them individually and the region collectively.

Speakers at the BNF will comprise industry leaders from India and overseas.
